1 Oz. Gold Bullion Coin - Common Date

The Richness of Viennese Music

The 1 oz. Gold Austria Philharmonic coin honors the rich heritage of Viennese music. Called the "Cradle of Classical Music," Vienna is home to the Austrian Philharmonic, perhaps the most revered musical institution in the world. When you purchase these Brilliant Uncirculated coins, you can also increase your own wealth as a gold investor.

The coin's design, created by chief Austrian Mint engraver Thomas Pesendorfer, features images and instruments from the home of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. The obverse design is of the Musikverein Pipe Organ, which is found in the Golden Music Hall in Vienna. This is where the orchestra performs. On the reverse, instruments used by the orchestra's members, including a bassoon, a Vienna horn, a harp, four violins and a cello, are artistically arranged.

GMRgold now offers this beautiful and valuable gold bullion coin in Brilliant Uncirculated condition from random years. Since the introduction of the 1 oz. Austrian Philharmonic coin in 1989, the coin has become one of the most popular gold coins.

The coin is legal tender in Austria with a face value of 2,000 Austrian shillings for the years from 1989 to 2001 or a face value of 100 Euros for dates from 2002 to today. However, even with the new face value of Euros, they are only legal tender in Austria. The 2016 1 oz. Gold Austria Philharmonic coin, with the 100 Euros face value, is also available from GMRgold. While the coins can technically be used to make purchases, they are minted as bullion coins for precious metals investors.

Music lovers everywhere appreciate the beautiful design of the Gold Austria Philharmonic coin. Investors are equally entranced by it.

Vienna has been a center of great music for hundreds of years. The likes of Mozart, Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Hayden all made music in Vienna during their lifetimes, composing and performing some of the greatest classical works of all time. So, it is appropriate that the Gold Austrian Philharmonic coin pays homage to that wonderful tradition of fine Viennese music.

The Gold Philharmonic series began in 1989 with the introduction of the 1 oz. and the 1/4 oz. gold bullion coins. Other coins have been added to the program, but it is the 1 oz. gold coin that has gained the most popularity among investors.

This coin is a 99.99% pure gold treasure, whether you are interested in classical music or not. It is valuable as a long-term investment to add variety and visual interest to your gold holdings now and in the future.
